necessary out of pocket expenses of the Custody Ad Hoc Group in the amount of $786,649.66 in making a substantial contribution in the above-captioned chapter 11 cases (the "Chapter 11 Cases").

In support of this Application, the Custody Ad Hoc Group submits the Declaration of Bryan M. Kotliar, Esq., a member of the Togut Firm, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit B (the "Kotliar Declaration"), and respectfully represents:

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT³

1. The Custody Ad Hoc Group has made a substantial contribution in these Chapter 11 Cases. The Custody Ad Hoc Group is a collection of individuals who personally contributed substantial amounts of their own time and their own money to these Chapter 11 Cases for the benefit of all Custody users, and ultimately, the Debtors, their estates and creditors. The Custody Ad Hoc Group formed early on in these Chapter 11 Cases, when the outlook was bleak and many individuals were still grappling with the realities of serious financial hardships and coping with the consequences of that in their personal lives in real time. For many, they lost access to their life savings, which was trapped inside a bankrupt cryptocurrency company—a relatively new phenomenon—and were unsure if they would ever get it back.

Notwithstanding these challenges, people came together in spite of this adversity and formed the Custody Ad Hoc Group to pursue the rights of all Custody users, which many felt were not being adequately advanced by the estate's fiduciaries that represented the interests of myriad creditors across many of the Debtors' programs.

³ Capitalized terms used but not defined in this Preliminary Statement shall have the meanings ascribed to such terms below.

- Ad Hoc Group led the negotiation and consensual resolution of issues affecting Custody accounts—issues identified by both the Debtors and the Court as significant from the outset of these Chapter 11 Cases—in a manner that substantially benefitted the Debtors' estates and benefitted all Custody users as well as the Debtors' creditors. The Custody Settlement resolved potentially thousands if not tens of thousands of preference lawsuits, allowed for substantial cryptocurrency to be voluntarily forfeited to the Debtors' estates (and thus available for creditors), and formed one of the early building blocks for the Debtors' Plan and the support, and votes in favor, of the Plan by a significant class. Through all of these outcomes, the Debtors' estates avoided the cost and uncertainty of substantial litigation and obtained, through consensual agreement, additional property to satisfy creditors.
- 3. As a result of the Custody Ad Hoc Group's actions, the Debtors were able to reach their first major customer settlement, applicable to all Custody users (not just the members of the Custody Ad Hoc Group), that formed a key building block of consensus around a chapter 11 plan of reorganization. That settlement came at a time when the Debtors were potentially on the cusp of losing plan exclusivity and was subsequently followed by other key customer settlements that have resulted in the Plan before the Court that enjoys substantial creditor support—a remarkable accomplishment in light of the circumstances of the filing of these Chapter 11 Cases just over a year ago. And finally, under that plan and the Custody Settlement, the Debtors' estates received more than $37.7 million in value on account of the portion of Custody accounts that opted into the Custody Settlement or elected the settlement option under the plan.

- 4. There can be no doubt that the efforts of the Custody Ad Hoc Group and its counsel, the Togut Firm, conferred an actual and demonstrable benefit to the Debtors' estates and its creditors that would not have been available but for the participation of the Custody Ad Hoc Group. The Custody Ad Hoc Group has made a substantial contribution in these Chapter 11 Cases and should have its very modest amount of fees and expenses compensated by the Debtors' estates, which received benefits far in excess of the amounts being requested. All of the foregoing reasons are exactly why the substantial contribution provisions exist in the Bankruptcy Code—to promote participation in the reorganization process and to enhance the estate. That is exactly what happened here.
- 5. Thus, the Custody Ad Hoc Group respectfully requests allowance and payment of its fees and expenses.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

- 6. The United States Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York (the "Court") has jurisdiction to consider this Application under 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334 and the Amended Standing Order of Reference M-431, dated January 31, 2023 (Preska, C.J.) (the "Amended Standing Order"). This is a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. § 157(b). Venue of these Chapter 11 Cases and this Application in this District is proper under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1408 and 1409.
- 7. The statutory predicate for the relief requested herein is section 503 of the Bankruptcy Code.

BACKGROUND

I. Overview of the Custody Ad Hoc Group

8. The Custody Ad Hoc Group is a grassroots group of users of the Debtors' services that formed in August 2022 to pursue the return of cryptocurrency in the Custody program (the "Custody Assets"). Following the Debtors' pause of all withdrawals from their platform on June 12, 2022 (the "Pause Date"), Custody Assets—and all other cryptocurrency on the Debtors' platform—were frozen, and users were unable to obtain the return of their Custody Assets. Without access to their Custody Assets, many Custody users have experienced tremendous personal hardship.

- 9. Since the Pause Date, it was difficult for many individual Custody users to engage counsel personally or collectively as a group because they did not have access to their funds or could not otherwise afford legal counsel in a case as large and as complex as these Chapter 11 Cases. Notwithstanding these challenges, a small group of individuals raised enough money through funding small retainer payments that served as the starting place for the Togut Firm to begin working on pursuing Custody users' rights, though with substantial uncertainty about the costs and outcome of that process and how it would be funded since, again, many Custody users did not have access to their funds needed to pay counsel fees.
- 10. Notwithstanding these challenges, the group that initially formed in August 2022 has since grown to more than 90 members holding approximately $27.8 million in U.S. dollar value of digital assets in Custody accounts (measured as of the Petition Date). The Custody Ad Hoc Group is administered by a sub-set of members referred to as the "Steering Committee" that have devoted substantial time and energy to negotiating for the best possible outcome for Custody users under the circumstances.

II. The Custody Ad Hoc Group Pursues Custody Users' Rights

11. One of the very first questions raised in these Chapter 11 Cases by the Court and parties in interest was the ability of Custody users to recover their property and the status of Custody withdrawals. See July 18, 2022 Tr. of Hr'g at 20:23

(at the first-day hearing, the Court asked "are [Custody users] able to recover it and what's happening with that?"). Indeed, at the top of the Debtors' list of "Key Legal Questions" in their first-day hearing presentation, the Debtors identified the property of the estate question, and specifically, "crypto assets held under the Custody [program]" as a "[l]egal issue[] critical to the outcome of this case . . . " See Docket No. 45. At several hearings, the Court noted that Custody issues needed to be resolved "sooner than later." See, e.g., Dec. 7, 2023 Hr'g Tr. 182:15-19 ("[I]f it's not the Debtors' and it should go back to somebody else, it's got to go back sooner rather than later.").

- 12. After the Custody Ad Hoc Group formed in August 2022, the group and its counsel at the Togut Firm immediately worked quickly to analyze and review the Custody program to determine what legal rights the Custody users had to their coins and what rights they had to their return. The Togut Firm also negotiated extensively with counsel for the Debtors and the Creditors' Committee to return cryptocurrency in the Custody program to Custody account users. Because the Custody Ad Hoc Group believed that the Debtors' Terms of Use clearly established that cryptocurrency in the Custody accounts are not property of the Debtors' estates, the Custody Ad Hoc Group demanded that the Debtors return those coins to all Custody users immediately, not just members of the Custody Ad Hoc Group.
- 13. When the Debtors would not commit to doing so for all Custody holders, the Custody Ad Hoc Group filed an adversary complaint (the "Custody Complaint") on August 31, 2022, seeking the Court's determination that Custody coins belong to Custody account users and requiring the Debtors to return them to Custody account users. See Complaint for Declaratory Judgment, Case No. 22-10964 (MG), Adv. Pro. No. 22-01142 (MG) (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. Aug. 22, 2022) ¶ 62 ("Based upon the foregoing, Plaintiff is entitled to a declaratory judgment that digital assets transferred into the Custody service are property of the Custody users and not property of the estates pursuant to section 541 of the Bankruptcy Code. The Debtors should be required to permit withdrawals of Custody Assets in accordance with the Terms of Use."). Around the same time, the Debtors filed a motion [Docket No. 670] for Court approval to return some, but not all, Custody coins—specifically only those that (a) were only ever in the Custody program (the "Pure Custody Assets") and (b) transferred into Custody in the 90 days before the Petition Date from the Earn program or the Borrow program and, at the time of such transfer(s), the aggregate value of such transfers were less than $7,575 (the "Transferred Custody Assets"). The reason the Debtors gave for this distinction that restricted the vast majority of Custody coins from being withdrawn is that coins that were transferred from Earn into Custody could be considered a preference or otherwise subject to avoidance and recovery.

- 14. Following the filing of the Custody Complaint and the Debtors' motion, the Custody Ad Hoc Group, along with the ad hoc group of Withhold Account Holders (the "Withhold Ad Hoc Group"), led the negotiations of a bifurcated "Phase I" and "Phase II" briefing schedule for determinations of whether assets in the Custody and Withhold accounts are property of the estate and whether the Debtors should be allowed to continue to hold those assets where the Debtors have potentially viable claims. See Joint Stipulation and Agreed Scheduling Order By and Among the Debtors, the Committee, and the Ad Hoc Groups with Respect to the Custody and Withhold Issues, entered on October 13, 2022 [Docket No. 1044] (the "Briefing Stipulation"). The Briefing Stipulation streamlined the Court's determination of the critical legal issues identified by the Debtors as to Custody users' rights to their property.
- 15. After extensive briefing, on December 7, 2022, the Court held an evidentiary hearing and determined that Custody coins in the Debtors' segregated Custody wallet are customers' property, but reserved decision on the "shortfall" balance not held in such wallet, which was approximately 6% across all coins, though varied on a coin-by-coin basis. See Order (I) Authorizing the Debtors to Reopen Withdrawals for Certain Customers with Respect to Certain Assets Held in the Custody Program and Withhold Accounts and (II) Granting Related Relief, entered on December 20, 2022 [Docket No. 1767] (the "Initial Custody Withdrawal Order"). The Court also held that Custody Assets subject to a potential preference action would not be released absent a determination or resolution of certain issues related thereto with respect to the Debtors' potential preference claims. As a result, Custody Assets, other than Pure Custody Assets and Transferred Custody Assets, would not be returned to Custody users absent further litigation pursuant to the "Phase II" briefing schedule or another resolution among the parties.

16. Thus, there remained substantial uncertainty for the Debtors' customers and the Debtors' estates alike as to the parties' respective rights to the Custody Assets where there may be potential preference actions. In addition, issues remained with respect to the distribution of the Pure Custody Assets and Transferred Custody Assets in light of the shortfall issue, which the Court directed the parties to address.

III. The Custody Ad Hoc Group Negotiates for the Custody Settlement and Substantial Cryptocurrency to Remain With the Debtors' Estates

17. After the December 7, 2022 evidentiary hearing on the Phase I issues, the Custody Ad Hoc Group worked quickly with the Debtors and the Creditors' Committee to consensually resolve issues as fast as possible to facilitate the expeditious return of Custody Assets to users and limit professional fees.

- 18. First, the Custody Ad Hoc Group negotiated with the Debtors and the Creditors' Committee and reached a consensual resolution of the shortfall issue whereby all cryptocurrency eligible for distribution under the Initial Custody Withdrawal Order would be withdrawn less a 6% holdback across all coins, subject to later determination by the Court or resolution by the parties. This allowed, for the first time in these Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors to begin distributing and customers to receive access to their cryptocurrency in the form of withdrawals from their Custody accounts of the Pure Custody Assets and the Transferred Custody Assets. The Custody Ad Hoc Group worked extensively with the Debtors and the Creditors' Committee on the notices and other pleadings, as well as the mechanics for, facilitating these withdrawals. Because the Debtors had transitioned many of their holdings postpetition to different wallets and systems than that they maintained prior to the Petition Date, the implementation of the withdrawals encountered some issues that the parties had to address in order for customers to receive their property back in accordance with the Settlement Approval Order. The Custody Ad Hoc Group, and in particular, the Togut Firm, responded to numerous inquiries from eligible Custody users and facilitated discussions with the Debtors to address mechanical issues as they arose.
- 19. In addition, the Custody Ad Hoc Group engaged in extensive negotiations with the Debtors and the Creditors' Committee regarding a global and consensual resolution of the Phase II litigation and all other issues affecting Custody accounts. At this point in the Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors' path forward was highly uncertain, as the Debtors had run a substantial postpetition marketing process but had not yet identified a buyer. Furthermore, there was substantial customer and creditor unrest in the estate-stakeholder community, and it was not clear that the Debtors would be able to propose a chapter 11 plan in time to maintain continued exclusivity while parties were clamoring for it to end. See, e.g, Docket Nos. 2010, 2011 & 2013. Finally, the Debtors faced litigation on many fronts, including with other customer groups and their preferred shareholders.

- the Debtors, and the Creditors' Committee agreed on the terms of a settlement (the "Custody Settlement") which resolved all issues between the parties, including the Phase II litigation and provided for a key building block for the Debtors' forthcoming chapter 11 plan (as explained in greater detail below). Pursuant to the Custody Settlement, Custody users could voluntarily "opt in" to receive 72.5% of their Custody Assets in kind in two distributions and forfeit 27.5% of their Custody Assets to the Debtors' estates in exchange for a release of all claims and causes of action with respect to their Custody account. Custody users that opted into the Custody Settlement were required to vote their Custody claims favor of the Debtors' forthcoming chapter 11 plan. The Custody Settlement also further (and finally) resolved the shortfall issue by allowing withdrawal of 100% of Pure Custody Assets and Transferred Custody Assets.
- 21. On March 21, 2023, the Court entered an order approving the Custody Settlement [Docket No. 2291] (the "Settlement Approval Order"). The Togut Firm submitted a letter in support of the Custody Settlement (the "Settlement Letter") that was included in materials distributed to each Custody user and encouraged them to opt into the Custody Settlement, explained the many benefits of doing so and provided necessary instructions to receive their distribution of cryptocurrency. The Custody Ad Hoc Group, and in particular, the Togut Firm, worked extensively with Custody users, both in and out of the Custody Ad Hoc Group), regarding the submission of the necessary paperwork, understanding the documentation and timing and process for participating in the Custody Settlement, and addressing issues related to implementing the withdrawals, which again, faced many challenges given that the Debtors were still relatively new to distributing cryptocurrency during these Chapter 11 Cases.

IV. The Debtors' Proposed Chapter 11 Plan

- 22. The Custody Settlement was the very first broad-based customer settlement agreement reached by the Debtors in these Chapter 11 Cases and forms one of the many building blocks for the Debtors' proposed plan. Indeed, the Plan (as defined below) was filed on March 31, 2023—the very last day for the Debtors to file a plan within its exclusive filing period (see Order (I) Extending the Debtors' Exclusive Periods to File a Chapter 11 Plan and Solicit Acceptances Thereof Pursuant to Section 1121 of the Bankruptcy Code and (II) Granting Related Relief, entered on March 9, 2023 [Docket No. 2203]).
- 23. The Debtors' first proposed chapter 11 plan of reorganization filed on March 31, 2023 [Docket No. 2358] (as may be amended, modified, revised, and/or supplemented from time to time, the "Plan") incorporated the Custody Settlement. See Plan § III.B.6.A. In particular, the Plan provides that Custody users that did not opt in to the Custody Settlement may still avail themselves of the same 72.5% recovery offered under the Custody Settlement by voting in favor of the Plan. Id. Custody users that accept this treatment under the Plan will receive 72.5% of their account distributed in kind consistent with the Custody Settlement on the effective date of the Plan (the "Effective Date").4

The Plan provides that in certain circumstances where a customer's "Withdrawal Preference Exposure" is less than $100,000, the customer is entitled to 100% of its Custody Assets.

- 24. Since the Custody Settlement, the Debtors have subsequently reached a number of other settlements and agreements with customer groups, shareholders, and other parties in interest. The Plan's existence and its current level of support is a remarkable achievement in light of where the Debtors' Chapter 11 Cases started and where they were just a few short months ago.
- 25. Indeed, based on the voting report filed with respect to the Plan on September 25, 2023 [Docket No. 3560], all but two classes of impaired claims voted to accept the Plan, including the class of Custody Claims. In particular, holders of 5,869 Custody Claims voted to accept (or were deemed to have accept the Plan under the Custody Settlement) holding U.S. dollar value of Custody Claims equal to more than $139.8 million—more than 99% in number and 98% in amount of the holders of such claims. Based on these figures and using the 27.5% portion of the Custody Settlement that remains with the Debtors' estates, the Debtors received more than $37.7 million in value.⁵

V. The Togut Firm's Reasonable Fees and Expenses

- 26. The Togut Firm has served as counsel to the Custody Ad Hoc Group since the very beginning. In addition to advising the Custody Ad Hoc Group, the Togut Firm has also responded to hundreds of inquiries from Custody users outside of the Custody Ad Hoc Group.
- 27. In connection with this Application, the Custody Ad Hoc Group is seeking allowance and payment of the Togut Firm's fees and expenses for the period from August 1, 2022 through and including August 31, 2023 in the amount of $786,649.66, which consists of reasonable professional fees of $778,953 and actual and necessary out of pocket expenses of $7,696.66. The Custody Ad Hoc Group and the Togut Firm is not seeking reimbursement or payment of any amounts after August 31, 2023, including any amounts related to the preparation, filing, and prosecution of this Application.

These figures are based on U.S. dollar value of claims as of the Petition Date. Because the Debtors will receive 27.5% of Custody users' balances in kind, based on the current trading prices of cryptocurrency and the changes since the Petition Date, the Debtors will receive substantially greater value than reflected herein.

- 28. Following the Court's entry of the Settlement Approval Order and the Debtors' filing of their first proposed Plan, the Togut Firm has incurred substantially less fees and expenses than in prior months during the litigation and negotiation of the Custody issues. From April 1 through August 31, 2023, the Togut Firm has incurred approximately $8,063.86 in fees and expenses per month, as compared to approximately $102,919.74 in fees and expenses per month for the first seven months of the Custody Ad Hoc Group's involvement in these Chapter 11 Cases—a decline of approximately 90%.
- 29. Since the entry of the Settlement Approval Order and the Debtors' filing of the initial proposed Plan, the Togut Firm has primarily monitored the Chapter 11 Cases solely as it relates to (a) implementation of the Custody Settlement, including assisting members of the Custody Ad Hoc Group and other Custody users with questions and addressing issues with respect to submitting paperwork necessary to opt into the Custody Settlement and addressing issues with respect to processing withdrawals, (b) ensuring that subsequent pleadings, including the Plan, adequately and appropriately incorporated the Custody Settlement, (c) monitoring with respect to other issues related to Custody processing and withdrawals, and (d) assisting the Custody Ad Hoc Group and other Custody users with understanding the very complicated proposed Plan as it relates to the Custody Program and submitting ballots, notices, and the other paperwork in connection with the Debtors' solicitation process.

RELIEF REQUESTED

- 30. By this Application, the Custody Ad Hoc Group seeks entry of the Proposed Order, authorizing payment of the reasonable professional fees and actual and necessary out of pocket expenses of the Custody Ad Hoc Group in the amount of $786,649.66 in making a substantial contribution in these Chapter 11 Cases. Copies of the Togut Firm's invoices from August 1, 2022 through and including August 31, 2023 are attached as Exhibit 1 to the Kotliar Declaration. As set forth in the Kotliar Declaration, the Custody Ad Hoc Group is not seeking payment from the Debtors for the Togut Firm's fees and expenses incurred after August 31, 2023, including all fees and expenses incurred in connection with the preparation, filing, and prosecution of this Application.
- 31. Pursuant to the Custody Settlement, the Debtors and the Creditors Committee have agreed not to "object to or otherwise oppose" this Application.

BASIS FOR RELIEF REQUESTED

I. THE CUSTODY AD HOC GROUP HAS MADE A SUBSTANTIAL CONTRIBUTION IN THESE CHAPTER 11 CASES

A. The Legal Standard

32. Sections 503(b)(3)(D) and 503(b)(4) of the Bankruptcy Code authorize a bankruptcy court to award expenses incurred by a creditor that makes a "substantial contribution" to a chapter 11 case, as well as:

Reasonable compensation for professional services rendered by an attorney or an accountant of an entity whose expense is allowable under subparagraph (A), (B), (C), (D), or (E) of paragraph 3 of [section 503(b)], based on the time, the nature, the extent, and the value of such services, and the cost of comparable services other than in a case under this title, and reimbursement of actual necessary expenses incurred by such attorney or accountant...

11 U.S.C. § 503(b)(3)(D) & (b)(4).

- 33. Thus, sections 503(b)(3)(D) and 503(b)(4) of the Bankruptcy Code allow reimbursement from a debtor's estate for a creditor's actual and necessary expenses, as well as reasonable professional fees and expenses incurred in connection with making a substantial contribution to the debtor's estates and the chapter 11 case. In re Granite Partners, 213 B.R. 440, 447 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 1997). Substantial contribution awards are "designed to promote meaningful participation in the reorganization process, but at the same time, discourage mushrooming administrative expenses." Id. at 445; see also In re Sedona Institute, 220 B.R. 74, 79 (9th Cir. BAP 1998) (describing the substantial contribution provisions as "an accommodation between the twin objectives of encouraging 'meaningful creditor participation in the reorganization process,' and 'keeping fees and administrative expenses at a minimum so as to preserve as much of the estate as possible for the creditors.'") (quoting Lebron v. Mechem Fin. Inc., 27 F.3d 937, 944 (3d Cir. 1994)). Reimbursement for substantial contribution is particularly appropriate where, as here, the party requesting reimbursement has played a "leadership role that normally would be expected of an estate-compensated professional." In re Bayou Grp., LLC, 431 B.R. 549, 562 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2010).
- analyzing a request for substantial contribution, including: "(i) whether the services benefited a creditor, the estate itself, or all interested parties; (ii) whether the services resulted in an actual significant and demonstrable benefit to the estate; and (iii) whether the services were duplicated by the efforts of others involved in the case." In re AMR Corp., No. 11-15463 (SHL), 2014 WL 3855320, at *1 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. Aug. 5, 2014). Whether a creditor and its professionals have substantially contributed to a chapter 11 case is determined on a case-by-case basis because the inquiry is fact-intensive. In re S&Y Enterprises, LLC, 480 B.R. 452, 462 (Bank. E.D.N.Y. 2012). Importantly, when a debtor's estate has the funds sufficient to satisfy the requested administrative expense without impacting creditor recoveries, allowing the expense is appropriate. See In re Richton Intern. Corp., 15 B.R. 854, 856 (Bank. S.D.N.Y. 1981) ("This Court emphasizes that the Debtor's estate is well-able to pay the allowances granted with no impairment of other creditors.").

B. The Court Should Grant the Application

- 37. All of the above factors support approval of the fees and expenses incurred by the Custody Ad Hoc Group during these Chapter 11 Cases.
 - (1) The Custody Ad Hoc Group's Efforts Benefited the Debtors' Estates and Improved Creditor Recoveries
- 38. The Custody Settlement benefitted all parties in interest in these Chapter 11 Cases and improved creditor recoveries. Specifically, all Custody users, not just the Ad Hoc Group, had the opportunity to opt into the Custody Settlement, either directly thereunder or by way of the Plan, to have their cryptocurrency returned. In addition, the Custody Settlement benefitted the Debtors' estates because it garnered necessary support by a voting class for the Debtors' contested proposed plan. See Joint Motion for entry of an Order (I) Approving (A) Settlement By and Among the Debtors, the Committee, and the Custody Ad Hoc Group and (B) the Election Form And (II) Granting Related Relief [Docket No. 2148] (the "Settlement Motion") at ¶ 1 ("As the Debtors work toward filing their chapter 11 plan...building consensus among stakeholders is critical.") (emphasis added). Moreover, because of the Custody Settlement additional estate assets are available for distribution to other classes of creditors. Specifically, the Custody Settlement resulted in Custody users voluntarily forfeiting 27.5% of their Custody account balances to the Debtors' estates, which amounts will be available to satisfy creditor claims—approximately $37.7 million in value (using Petition Date U.S. dollar values) of coins contributed to the Debtors' estates.
- 39. Although the Custody Settlement was ultimately the product of good-faith consensual negotiations, the procedural posture demonstrates the leadership role served by the Custody Ad Hoc Group and the Togut Firm (see In re Bayou Grp., LLC, 431 B.R. at 562), which bears a clear causal connection to the above-mentioned contributions (see In re Granite Partners, 213 B.R. at 447). Indeed, the Debtors initially refused to return Custody assets to the Custody Ad Hoc Group and other Custody users. The Complaint and Briefing Stipulation brought the parties to the table to resolve this gating issue "sooner, rather than later." Dec. 7, 2023 Hr'g Tr. 182:15-19. Even where the Debtors and the Creditors' Committee agreed with the Custody Ad Hoc Group on certain issues, other issues remained—such as the legal impact of the "shortfall" on customers' and the estates' legal entitlements to Custody Assets and how to address and resolve potential preference actions against Custody users. The Custody Ad Hoc Group provided a unique perspective on these issues, which allowed for a counterparty to negotiate with for resolutions of these and other issues that applied to the Custody community at large. Thus, Ad Hoc Group's actions advanced the entire bankruptcy process and moved the case closer to a successful reorganization. See In re S&Y Enterprises, LLC, 480 B.R. at 464.

40. In addition, the services of the Togut Firm undoubtedly moved the bankruptcy case toward a successful reorganization for several reasons. In re AMR Corp., 2014 WL 3855320, at *2. First, the Custody Settlement was reached at a time when Debtors were nearing end of exclusivity and parties were seeking to terminate or challenge extensions to the Debtors' exclusivity. Second, Custody Settlement was the first customer settlement and not only built momentum but also formed the basis for the first of many settlements incorporated into the plan. Resolution of the Custody users' claims also facilitated the resolution of an entire class under the Debtors' proposed plan. See Plan, Class 6A. Thus, notwithstanding the Custody Account Holders' interest in their Custody Assets, resolution of the related legal issue advanced the entire bankruptcy process.

- (2) The Custody Ad Hoc Group's Efforts Resulted in Actual, Significant and Demonstrable Benefits to the Debtors' Estates
- 41. The participation of the Custody Ad Hoc Group, by and through the Togut Firm, resulted in an actual, significant, and demonstrably positive benefit to the Debtors' estates. In addition to the foregoing, the Custody Ad Hoc Group's participation resulted in the avoidance of costly litigation expenses that would have been required to resolve substantial preference issues impacting Custody users, which itself may have caused related appeals, thousands if not tens of thousands of preference lawsuits, and confirmation objections and related issues. Indeed, the Debtors have acknowledged the "unique and complicated" nature of these issues. See Settlement Motion at ¶ 10.
- 42. Another actual, significant, and demonstrably positive benefit to the Debtors' estates is the resolution of preference claims as a result of the Settlement Agreement. The Debtors acknowledged the prospect of costly and uncertain preference litigation in connection with the unique legal issues consensually resolved by the Settlement Agreement. See March 21, 2023 Hr'g Tr. 34:1-7 ("Factor three is the paramount interest of Creditors. I believe that this settlement does that as well. The costs associated with any related litigation would drain the Debtors' estates and further delay Creditor recoveries, and that [is] because custody holders have the right to opt in, no one is being forced to accept the settlement. I think that is quite important."). In addition, as mentioned, under the Settlement Agreement, certain cryptocurrency held in the Custody Accounts is being returned to the Debtors' estates for ultimate distribution to the Debtors' creditors. The Togut Firm respectfully submits that this structure embodied in the Settlement Agreement constitutes an actual, significant and demonstrably positive benefit to the Debtors' estates.

- (3) The Custody Ad Hoc Group's Efforts Were Not Duplicated by Any Other Constituents
- 43. The Custody Ad Hoc Group's efforts were not duplicated by other estate fiduciaries in these Chapter 11 Cases. As described in the Settlement Letter, the Debtors initially refused to return coins in the Custody Accounts to all Custody Account Holders, a position opposite to that taken by the Togut Firm on behalf of the Custody Ad Hoc Group. In addition, Custody users expressed a feelings of being underrepresented by the Creditors' Committee, as claimants related to different Debtor assets and driven by different incentives, were naturally adverse to holders like Custody. In this way, Custody Ad Hoc Group acted as an informal creditors' committee. See Granite Partners, 213 B.R. at 455 (finding substantial contribution by group acting as a "de facto" committee).
- consistent with the policy underlying substantial contribution pursuant to section 503(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. Specifically, the Custody Ad Hoc Group meaningfully participated in these Chapter 11 Cases and caused the foregoing benefits to the Debtors' estate. That the Debtors' agreed to not oppose the Application demonstrates that they will have sufficient cash on hand to satisfy its administrative expenses, including those requested in this Application. In re Richton Intern. Corp., 15 B.R. at 856 ("This Court emphasizes that the Debtor's estate is well-able to pay the allowances granted with no impairment of other creditors."). The amounts requested in this Application are very modest and will not meaningfully impact the recoveries of the Debtors' creditors. Accordingly, the Togut Firm respectfully submits that the Application sets forth the exact circumstances that section 503(b) of the Bankruptcy Code was designed to promote and demonstrates a substantial contribution to the Debtors' estates.

C. The Togut Firm's Fees and Expenses are Reasonable, Necessary and Beneficial to the Debtors' Estates, and Should Be Allowed

- 45. The Togut Firm's fees meet the remaining criteria of section 503(b)(4) in that they are "reasonable . . . based on the time, the nature, the extent, and the value of such services, and the cost of comparable services other than in a case under this title," and that expenses be "actual and necessary." 11 U.S.C. § 503(b)(4).
- Bankruptcy Code for evaluating estate-compensated professionals' fee requests, including the reference to comparable fees in non-bankruptcy matters. See In re Cenargo Int'l., PLC, 294 B.R. 571, 595-96 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2003) (containing a discussion of the factors to be considered under section 330 and the considerable extent of the court's discretion in determining the reasonableness of fee applications in the light of its experience with such applications and judgment pertaining to applicable billing practices). Accordingly, with one exception, the Court's evaluation of the reasonableness of counsel fees and expenses under section 503(b)(4) should generally follow the approach used under section 330 of the Bankruptcy Code. In re Bayou Grp., LLC, 431 B.R. at 566. The exception is that, because the professional may not know that he or she will be submitting a fee and expense request, the Court need not necessarily enforce time record requirements as strictly as with requests under section 330 of the Bankruptcy Code. See id.
- 47. The fees and expenses of the Togut Firm satisfy the requirements of section 503(b) of the Bankruptcy Code based on (a) the complexity of the issues presented, (b) the time and labor required, (c) the skill necessary, and (d) the customary fees charged to clients in bankruptcy and non-bankruptcy cases.

- These Chapter 11 Cases are Undoubtedly Large and Complex. These Chapter 11 Cases presented many issues of first impression and complicated legal and factual questions regarding property of the Debtors' estates and litigation claims that have never before been applied to digital assets like cryptocurrency. Each of these areas involved unsettled questions of law and required extensive legal analysis by the Togut Firm to develop settlement constructs that were beneficial to the Debtors' estates and resolved substantial potential litigation.
- The Time and Labor Required and the Skill Necessary. As set forth above, participating in the Chapter 11 Cases required substantial time, labor, and skill to analyze, understand and address a variety of complex legal issues. In addition, the Custody Settlement required drafting and negotiating a complicated settlement agreement, the first of its kind in cryptocurrency cases. The Debtors and the Creditors' Committee were advised by major international law firms and respected financial advisors. To participate, the Custody Ad Hoc Group required the assistance of similar advisors in the form of the Togut Firm.
- Customary Fees and Expenses. Considering the substantial benefits conferred on the Debtors' estates, as discussed herein, the fees and expenses of the Custody Ad Hoc Group are reasonable and represent only a tiny fraction of the additional value achieved by the Debtors' estates. This alone should be sufficient evidence for the Court to approve such fees and expenses under sections 503(b)(3)(D) and 503(b)(4) of the Bankruptcy Code. Further, the hourly rates and expense reimbursement policies of the Togut Firm are substantially below the rates charged by the estate's professionals. The amount of time spent, and the level of staffing, also are consistent with the substantial efforts of the Custody Ad Hoc Group in these Chapter 11 Cases.

REQUEST FOR WAIVER OF LOCAL RULE 2016-1

48. To the best of its knowledge, the Custody Ad Hoc Group believes that this Application and the description of services set forth herein and in the time records attached as Exhibit 1 to the Kotliar Declaration are in substantial compliance with the requirements relating to compensation requests set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 2016-1. To the extent that this Application does not comply in all respects with the requirements of Local Bankruptcy Rule 2016-1, the Custody Ad Hoc Group believes that such deviations are immaterial and respectfully requests that such requirements be waived.

49. The Togut Firm as counsel to the Custody Ad Hoc Group maintained detailed time records of time expended and resources incurred by professionals and paraprofessionals in rendering services to the Custody Ad Hoc Group in these Chapter 11 Cases. Copies of the Togut Firm's invoices, including detailed time records and itemization of expenses incurred in connection with these Chapter 11 Cases are attached as Exhibit 1 to the Kotliar Declaration.

NO PRIOR REQUEST

50. No prior application has been made to this or any other Court for the relief requested herein.

NOTICE

51. The Custody Ad Hoc Group will provide notice of this Application to the following parties or their respective counsel: (a) the Debtors; (b) the U.S. Trustee; (c) the Creditors' Committee; and (d) any party that has requested notice pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 2002. In light of the nature of the relief requested, the Custody Ad Hoc Group respectfully submits that no other or further notice need be given.

CONCLUSION

WHEREFORE, the Togut Firm respectfully requests that the Court enter the Proposed Order, substantially in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A, granting (a) the relief requested herein and (b) such other relief as may be just and proper.

² Capitalized terms used but not otherwise defined herein have the meanings ascribed to such terms in the Application.

3. Unless otherwise stated in this Declaration, I have personal knowledge of the facts set forth herein.

THE APPLICATION

I. Overview of the Custody Ad Hoc Group

- 4. The Custody Ad Hoc Group is a grassroots group of users of the Debtors' services that formed in August 2022 to pursue the return of cryptocurrency in the Custody program (the "Custody Assets"). Following the Debtors' pause of all withdrawals from their platform on June 12, 2022 (the "Pause Date"), Custody Assets—and all other cryptocurrency on the Debtors' platform—were frozen, and users were unable to obtain the return of their Custody Assets. Without access to their Custody Assets, many Custody users have experienced tremendous personal hardship.
- 5. Since the Pause Date, it was difficult for many individual Custody users to engage counsel personally or collectively as a group because they did not have access to their funds or could not otherwise afford legal counsel in a case as large and as complex as these Chapter 11 Cases. Notwithstanding these challenges, a small group of individuals raised enough money through funding small retainer payments that served as the starting place for the Togut Firm to begin working on pursuing Custody users' rights, though with substantial uncertainty about the costs and outcome of that process and how it would be funded since, again, many Custody users did not have access to their funds needed to pay counsel fees.
- 6. Notwithstanding these challenges, the group that initially formed in August 2022 has since grown to more than 90 members holding approximately $27.8 million in U.S. dollar value of digital assets in Custody accounts (measured as of the Petition Date). The Custody Ad Hoc Group is administered by a sub-set of members referred to as the "Steering Committee" that have devoted substantial time and energy to negotiating for the best possible outcome for Custody users under the circumstances.

II. The Custody Ad Hoc Group Pursues Custody Users' Rights

- 7. One of the very first questions raised in these Chapter 11 Cases by the Court and parties in interest was the ability of Custody users to recover their property and the status of Custody withdrawals. See July 18, 2022 Tr. of Hr'g at 20:23 (at the first-day hearing, the Court asked "are [Custody users] able to recover it and what's happening with that?"). Indeed, at the top of the Debtors' list of "Key Legal Questions" in their first-day hearing presentation, the Debtors identified the property of the estate question, and specifically, "crypto assets held under the Custody [program]" as a "[l]egal issue[] critical to the outcome of this case . . . " See Docket No. 45. At several hearings, the Court noted that Custody issues needed to be resolved "sooner than later." See, e.g., Dec. 7, 2023 Hr'g Tr. 182:15-19 ("[I]f it's not the Debtors' and it should go back to somebody else, it's got to go back sooner rather than later.").
- 8. After the Custody Ad Hoc Group formed in August 2022, the group and its counsel at the Togut Firm immediately worked quickly to analyze and review the Custody program to determine what legal rights the Custody users had to their coins and what rights they had to their return. The Togut Firm also negotiated extensively with counsel for the Debtors and the Creditors' Committee to return cryptocurrency in the Custody program to Custody account users. Because the Custody Ad Hoc Group believed that the Debtors' Terms of Use clearly established that cryptocurrency in the Custody accounts are not property of the Debtors' estates, the Custody Ad Hoc Group demanded that the Debtors return those coins to all Custody users immediately, not just members of the Custody Ad Hoc Group.

- 9. When the Debtors would not commit to doing so for all Custody holders, the Custody Ad Hoc Group filed an adversary complaint (the "Custody Complaint") on August 31, 2022, seeking the Court's determination that Custody coins belong to Custody account users and requiring the Debtors to return them to Custody account users. See Complaint for Declaratory Judgment, Case No. 22-10964 (MG), Adv. Pro. No. 22-01142 (MG) (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. Aug. 22, 2022) ¶ 62 ("Based upon the foregoing, Plaintiff is entitled to a declaratory judgment that digital assets transferred into the Custody service are property of the Custody users and not property of the estates pursuant to section 541 of the Bankruptcy Code. The Debtors should be required to permit withdrawals of Custody Assets in accordance with the Terms of Use."). Around the same time, the Debtors filed a motion [Docket No. 670] for Court approval to return some, but not all, Custody coins—specifically only those that (a) were only ever in the Custody program (the "Pure Custody Assets") and (b) transferred into Custody in the 90 days before the Petition Date from the Earn program or the Borrow program and, at the time of such transfer(s), the aggregate value of such transfers were less than $7,575 (the "Transferred Custody Assets"). The reason the Debtors gave for this distinction that restricted the vast majority of Custody coins from being withdrawn is that coins that were transferred from Earn into Custody could be considered a preference or otherwise subject to avoidance and recovery.
- 10. Following the filing of the Custody Complaint and the Debtors' motion, the Custody Ad Hoc Group, along with the ad hoc group of Withhold Account Holders (the "Withhold Ad Hoc Group"), led the negotiations of a bifurcated "Phase I" and "Phase II" briefing schedule for determinations of whether assets in the Custody and Withhold accounts are property of the estate and whether the Debtors should be allowed to continue to hold those assets where the Debtors have potentially viable claims. See Joint Stipulation and Agreed Scheduling Order By and Among the Debtors, the Committee, and the Ad Hoc Groups with Respect to the Custody and Withhold Issues, entered on October 13, 2022 [Docket No. 1044] (the "Briefing Stipulation"). The Briefing Stipulation streamlined the Court's determination of the critical legal issues identified by the Debtors as to Custody users' rights to their property.

- evidentiary hearing and determined that Custody coins in the Debtors' segregated Custody wallet are customers' property, but reserved decision on the "shortfall" balance not held in such wallet, which was approximately 6% across all coins, though varied on a coin-by-coin basis. See Order (I) Authorizing the Debtors to Reopen Withdrawals for Certain Customers with Respect to Certain Assets Held in the Custody Program and Withhold Accounts and (II) Granting Related Relief, entered on December 20, 2022 [Docket No. 1767] (the "Initial Custody Withdrawal Order"). The Court also held that Custody Assets subject to a potential preference action would not be released absent a determination or resolution of certain issues related thereto with respect to the Debtors' potential preference claims. As a result, Custody Assets, other than Pure Custody Assets and Transferred Custody Assets, would not be returned to Custody users absent further litigation pursuant to the "Phase II" briefing schedule or another resolution among the parties.
- 12. Thus, there remained substantial uncertainty for the Debtors' customers and the Debtors' estates alike as to the parties' respective rights to the Custody Assets where there may be potential preference actions. In addition, issues remained with respect to the distribution of the Pure Custody Assets and Transferred Custody Assets in light of the shortfall issue, which the Court directed the parties to address.

III. The Custody Ad Hoc Group Negotiates for the Custody Settlement and Substantial Cryptocurrency to Remain With the Debtors' Estates

- 13. After the December 7, 2022 evidentiary hearing on the Phase I issues, the Custody Ad Hoc Group worked quickly with the Debtors and the Creditors' Committee to consensually resolve issues as fast as possible to facilitate the expeditious return of Custody Assets to users and limit professional fees.
- 14. First, the Custody Ad Hoc Group negotiated with the Debtors and the Creditors' Committee and reached a consensual resolution of the shortfall issue whereby all cryptocurrency eligible for distribution under the Initial Custody Withdrawal Order would be withdrawn less a 6% holdback across all coins, subject to later determination by the Court or resolution by the parties. This allowed, for the first time in these Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors to begin distributing and customers to receive access to their cryptocurrency in the form of withdrawals from their Custody accounts of the Pure Custody Assets and the Transferred Custody Assets. The Custody Ad Hoc Group worked extensively with the Debtors and the Creditors' Committee on the notices and other pleadings, as well as the mechanics for, facilitating these withdrawals. Because the Debtors had transitioned many of their holdings postpetition to different wallets and systems than that they maintained prior to the Petition Date, the implementation of the withdrawals encountered some issues that the parties had to address in order for customers to receive their property back in accordance with the Settlement Approval Order. The Custody Ad Hoc Group, and in particular, the Togut Firm, responded to numerous inquiries from eligible Custody users and facilitated discussions with the Debtors to address mechanical issues as they arose.
- 15. In addition, the Custody Ad Hoc Group engaged in extensive negotiations with the Debtors and the Creditors' Committee regarding a global and consensual resolution of the Phase II litigation and all other issues affecting Custody accounts. At this point in the Chapter 11 Cases, the Debtors' path forward was highly uncertain, as the Debtors had run a substantial postpetition marketing process but had not yet identified a buyer. Furthermore, there was substantial customer and creditor unrest in the estate-stakeholder community, and it was not clear that the Debtors would be able to propose a chapter 11 plan in time to maintain continued exclusivity while parties were clamoring for it to end. See, e.g, Docket Nos. 2010, 2011 & 2013. Finally, the Debtors faced litigation on many fronts, including with other customer groups and their preferred shareholders.

- the Debtors, and the Creditors' Committee agreed on the terms of a settlement (the "Custody Settlement") which resolved all issues between the parties, including the Phase II litigation and provided for a key building block for the Debtors' forthcoming chapter 11 plan (as explained in greater detail below). Pursuant to the Custody Settlement, Custody users could voluntarily "opt in" to receive 72.5% of their Custody Assets in kind in two distributions and forfeit 27.5% of their Custody Assets to the Debtors' estates in exchange for a release of all claims and causes of action with respect to their Custody account. Custody users that opted into the Custody Settlement were required to vote their Custody claims favor of the Debtors' forthcoming chapter 11 plan. The Custody Settlement also further (and finally) resolved the shortfall issue by allowing withdrawal of 100% of Pure Custody Assets and Transferred Custody Assets.
- 17. On March 21, 2023, the Court entered an order approving the Custody Settlement [Docket No. 2291] (the "Settlement Approval Order"). The Togut Firm submitted a letter in support of the Custody Settlement (the "Settlement Letter") that was included in materials distributed to each Custody user and encouraged them to opt into the Custody Settlement, explained the many benefits of doing so and provided necessary instructions to receive their distribution of cryptocurrency. The Custody Ad Hoc Group, and in particular, the Togut Firm, worked extensively with Custody users, both in and out of the Custody Ad Hoc Group), regarding the submission of the necessary paperwork, understanding the documentation and timing and process for participating in the Custody Settlement, and addressing issues related to implementing the withdrawals, which again, faced many challenges given that the Debtors were still relatively new to distributing cryptocurrency during these Chapter 11 Cases.

IV. The Debtors' Proposed Chapter 11 Plan

- 18. The Custody Settlement was the very first broad-based customer settlement agreement reached by the Debtors in these Chapter 11 Cases and forms one of the many building blocks for the Debtors' proposed plan. Indeed, the Plan (as defined below) was filed on March 31, 2023—the very last day for the Debtors to file a plan within its exclusive filing period (see Order (I) Extending the Debtors' Exclusive Periods to File a Chapter 11 Plan and Solicit Acceptances Thereof Pursuant to Section 1121 of the Bankruptcy Code and (II) Granting Related Relief, entered on March 9, 2023 [Docket No. 2203]).
- 19. The Debtors' first proposed chapter 11 plan of reorganization filed on March 31, 2023 [Docket No. 2358] (as may be amended, modified, revised, and/or supplemented from time to time, the "Plan") incorporated the Custody Settlement. See Plan § III.B.6.A. In particular, the Plan provides that Custody users that did not opt in to the Custody Settlement may still avail themselves of the same 72.5% recovery offered under the Custody Settlement by voting in favor of the Plan. Id. Custody users that accept this treatment under the Plan will receive 72.5% of their account distributed in kind – consistent with the Custody Settlement – on the effective date of the Plan (the "Effective Date").³

- 20. Since the Custody Settlement, the Debtors have subsequently reached a number of other settlements and agreements with customer groups, shareholders, and other parties in interest. The Plan's existence and its current level of support is a remarkable achievement in light of where the Debtors' Chapter 11 Cases started and where they were just a few short months ago.
- 21. Indeed, based on the voting report filed with respect to the Plan on September 25, 2023 [Docket No. 3560], all but two classes of impaired claims voted to accept the Plan, including the class of Custody Claims. In particular, holders of 5,869 Custody Claims voted to accept (or were deemed to have accept the Plan under the Custody Settlement) holding U.S. dollar value of Custody Claims equal to more than $139.8 million—more than 99% in number and 98% in amount of the holders of such claims. Based on these figures and using the 27.5% portion of the Custody Settlement that remains with the Debtors' estates, the Debtors received more than $37.7 million in value.⁴

THE TOGUT FIRM'S FEES AND EXPENSES

22. Attached hereto as Exhibit 1 are true and correct copies of the Togut Firm's invoices from August 1, 2022 through and including August 31, 2023.

The Plan provides that in certain circumstances where a customer's "Withdrawal Preference Exposure" is less than $100,000, the customer is entitled to 100% of its Custody Assets.

These figures are based on U.S. dollar value of claims as of the Petition Date. Because the Debtors will receive 27.5% of Custody users' balances in kind, based on the current trading prices of cryptocurrency and the changes since the Petition Date, the Debtors will receive substantially greater value than reflected herein.

- 23. The Togut Firm has served as counsel to the Custody Ad Hoc Group since the very beginning. In addition to advising the Custody Ad Hoc Group, the Togut Firm has also responded to hundreds of inquiries from Custody users outside of the Custody Ad Hoc Group.
- 24. In connection with this Application, the Custody Ad Hoc Group is seeking allowance and payment of the Togut Firm's fees and expenses for the period from August 1, 2022 through and including August 31, 2023 in the amount of $786,649.66, which consists of professional fees of $778,953 and actual and necessary out of pocket expenses of $7,696.66. The Custody Ad Hoc Group and the Togut Firm is not seeking reimbursement or payment of any amounts after August 31, 2023, including any amounts related to the preparation, filing, and prosecution of this Application.
- 25. Following the Court's entry of the Settlement Approval Order and the Debtors' filing of their first proposed Plan, the Togut Firm has incurred substantially less fees and expenses than in prior months during the litigation and negotiation of the Custody issues. From April 1 through August 31, 2023, the Togut Firm has incurred approximately $8,063.86 in fees and expenses per month, as compared to approximately $102,919.74 in fees and expenses per month for the first seven months of the Custody Ad Hoc Group's involvement in these Chapter 11 Cases—a decline of approximately 90%.
- 26. Since the entry of the Settlement Approval Order and the Debtors' filing of the initial proposed Plan, the Togut Firm has primarily monitored the Chapter 11 Cases solely as it relates to (a) implementation of the Custody Settlement, including assisting members of the Custody Ad Hoc Group and other Custody users with questions and addressing issues with respect to submitting paperwork necessary to opt into the Custody Settlement and addressing issues with respect to processing

22-10964-mg Doc 3660 Filed 10/02/23 Entered 10/02/23 15:31:45 Main Document Pa 42 of 299

withdrawals, (b) ensuring that subsequent pleadings, including the Plan, adequately and appropriately incorporated the Custody Settlement, (c) monitoring with respect to other issues related to Custody processing and withdrawals, and (d) assisting the Custody Ad Hoc Group and other Custody users with understanding the very complicated proposed Plan as it relates to the Custody Program and submitting ballots, notices, and the other paperwork in connection with the Debtors' solicitation process.

27. I submit that the time and staffing (and related billing rates) on this matter are reasonable in light of the work that the Togut Firm was asked to do.

28. Further, and as set forth in the Application and above, these services were necessary for and beneficial to the Debtors' estates and had the effect of creating a better outcome in the Chapter 11 Cases that benefitted all creditors, customers, and other parties in interest.

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.
